The South Atlantic Medal Association (SAMA 82)

On April 2nd 1982, Argentine forces invaded the Falkland Islands. Soon afterwards, Operation Corporate was launched and a British task force consisting of assets from the Royal Navy, Army, Royal Air Force and Merchant Navy set out from the United Kingdom to re-take the Falklands as well as the island of South Georgia which had also been seized.

On arrival in the operational area, the task force was subjected to extensive and sustained attacks by Argentine aircraft, and several ships were lost ahead of the landings. Once ashore, the ground forces were supported by the fleet's Harrier jets and after a series of bloody battles on both East and West Falklands, the Argentine forces surrendered to the British on 14th June 1982. The islands were thus restored to British sovereignty.

Victory came at a price both on land and at sea. 255 British personnel were killed, almost 780 were wounded and 3 Falkland Islanders were also killed. Two posthumous Victoria Crosses were awarded as well as numerous other bravery decorations. Those who took part in the campaign received the South Atlantic Medal.

SAMA (82) was established on April 2nd 1997 with the aim of promoting comradeship and providing support for those who served on Operation Corporate.
